A Decade of Tiki!

Rick - 04 Oct 2012 18:39 GMT-0000

It may be hard to believe, but the Tiki Wiki CMS Groupware project was started a decade ago with its first public release on October 9, 2002! From its humble beginnings as a mere wiki, Tiki has grown to become the Free / Libre / Open Source Web Application with the most built-in features. And as the application has grown, so has the community.

Tiki releases: 0.9 through 10.0 (click to view)

Today, there are more than 20,000 registered accounts on the Tiki websites, more than 500 contributors with commit access to the Tiki codebase, and well over 1,000,000 downloads of Tiki!

Happy Birthday to the entire Tiki Community!

New Tiki Trademarks

Rick - 28 Sep 2012 12:22 GMT-0000

The Tiki Software Community Association is proud to announce that it has been granted a registered trademark for Tiki and TikiWiki by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO). This achievement represents a culmination of work by the Tiki Community, the Tiki Legal Team, and the student attorneys at the WVU Entrepreneurship Clinic of the West Virginia University College of Law.

Trademarks prevent confusion in the marketplace of similar goods/services. By registering our trademark, users know that Tiki software is a quality product, produced by the Tiki Community — users will know what to expect.

In the coming months, you'll notice a slight change in our branding as we update our logos and websites.

Now a registered trademark!

Tiki 8.5 and 9.1 Released

Rick - 05 Sep 2012 00:10 GMT-0000

The Tiki Software Community Association is proud to announce the immediate  availability of the latest versions of Tiki Wiki CMS Groupware: 8.5 and 9.1.

The Tiki 8.5 release represents the final release for the 8.x series. No additional work is planned for the 8.x series. The Tiki 9.x series is planned to be supported (as a Long Term Support) series until November 2015 (or upon the release of Tiki 16).

Both releases (8.5 and 9.1) include several fixes and updates, including a security patch first reported by Lukas Reschke regarding an optional Tiki feature, swfupload, first introduced in Tiki 7.0.

Tiki admins are highly encouraged to upgrade to Tiki 8.5 or 9.1. As a workaround, Tiki admins can set the Upload progress bar option to None in order to secure their sites. See the Tiki Release Notes (<http://tiki.org/ReleaseNotes>) for complete information.

To download these newest releases (or any Tiki release), visit the Tiki download page at <http://tiki.org/download>.

Tiki Named "Best Web Tool"

Rick - 16 Aug 2012 11:25 GMT-0000

Tiki Wiki CMS Groupware was recently named "Best Web Tool" by WebHostingSearch.com, a guide that provides top resources for web tools.

The authors note that Tiki is one of the few tools that can actually fit in all the categories of WebHostingSearch.com's Web Tools Directory. Tiki's listing in the directory continues:

We are just proud to have Tiki be part of our growing external sources to help other web developers find the best web application to support their online endeavor.

TikiFest Barcelona

Rick - 01 Aug 2012 23:04 GMT-0000 - ( Reads)

Join us for a week-long TikiFest in beautiful Barcelona (Catalonia, Spain) from August  20-27. Members of the Tiki Community will meet to collaborate on several Tiki features, including:

- Extending the Tiki calendar to allow resource management (reservations and bookings)
- Improving the user interface for Tiki Workspaces
- Additional integration of CCLite (Community Currencies)
- Looking at ways to improve the overall Tiki Community by introducing collaborative code reviews, bug triage, and more.

Perspective participants are encouraged to add their own ideas, too. If you're planning to come to TikiFest, you might as well stay for WikiSym, which runs August 27-29.

For complete information, see <http://tiki.org/TikiFestBarcelona3>
